Small Book Management...

The most frequently asked questions:

Will I retain control of my small accounts?

Yes. Your accounts will always be your accounts. Patra team members will work within your existing agency management system to service your accounts. And don't worry, transferring accounts back to the agency is as easy as recoding in your agency management system.

What defines a small account?

Patra understands that every agency uniquely defines their small accounts. For some it means under $100 managed revenue per account, for others it means under $500, or for others it means under $10,000. We find it most common that agencies define their small accounts as under $2,500 managed revenue, but we can work with whatever you call small.

What services are included in the Patra Select EB model?

Your Patra team will manage every aspect of your book, from answering calls and managing eligibility changes to marketing new business and rounding accounts.

What happens in the event a Patra Select Account Manager is out of the office?

As a Patra Select customer you are assigned a full time, dedicated account manager, with years of agency experience, to lead your team. To ensure no gaps in coverage should your account manager be out of the office, we also train and coordinate second and tertiary staff support to cover all service needs during an absence.
